JOB VACANCY

BASKETBALL CLUB DEVELOPMENT OFFICER

Wage: £600 to £1,200 per month

Term: March to July 2008

Stockport Ball Hall is looking for one or two basketball club development officers to work to assist with the development of 6 junior basketball clubs. These are:

- Great Sankey
- Birchwood
- Penketh
- Stockton Heath
- Orford
- Padgate

The main duties will include undertaking schools promotion work around Warrington recruiting new teams for each junior basketball club that will compete in the Saturday junior basketball competitions at Warrington Ball Hall. The role will involve ensuring new players are introduced to basketball through the Centre's come 'n' try sessions where they are taught the basics skills needed to play and formed into teams. The development officer will need to be available at times on a Saturday to oversee these sessions as well as at suitable times to contact interested players parents to invite them to their first sessions.

The objective will be to recruit six (6) new basketball teams for each club between March and July for school years 3 to 8.

This position will suit an individual with an enthusiasm and a background in basketball, either through playing, coaching, refereeing or administering. This is a key sports development role, working directly to improve participation in basketball.
